

ABSTRACT

Methods, systems, and apparatuses of this invention provide lightweight, economical, safe and adaptable means of retrieving an individual from a confined or an enclosed space, such as a storage vessel, storage tank, cargo transport tank, or any other enclosed container.